ANNUAL REPORT 2013
Building community.
Providing a home.
Ending bullying.
Preventing suicide.
The Long Island GLBT Network is an association of non-profit organizations serving Long Island’s GLBT community throughout the lifespan: Long Island Gay and Lesbian Youth (LIGALY), The Long Island GLBT Community Center (The Center), and Services and Advocacy for GLBT Elders – Long Island (SAGE-LI).

In working together, each organization shares resources, and thus reduces overhead costs and expenses. Each organization shares administration, programming space, and fundraising efforts making for an efficient system, and ensuring the money raised through grants, donations, and special events are maximized providing the greatest benefit to all of Long Island’s GLBT community.

The organizations of The Long Island GLBT Network operate Long Island’s only three community centers in Nassau, Suffolk, and the East End.

During 2013, The Network and its organizations celebrated its history and new beginnings. The Network also served more people with more programs than ever before.
During 2013, The Network and its organizations reflected on its history and celebrated new beginnings. The Network also served more people with more programs than ever in its history.

Looking Back

Moving Forward

Long Island Gay and Lesbian Youth (LIGALY) celebrated its 20th Anniversary of providing life-changing services to hundreds of thousands of youth since 1993 and its role in transforming the landscape of Long Island for all GLBT families. At its 20th Anniversary Gala in May, many national leaders came out to recognize LIGALY’s long history and also be honored for their work and leadership; they joined nearly 400 other attendees’ in celebrating LIGALY’s anniversary. Democratic leader and US Congresswoman Nancy Pelosi was recognized for her decades of leadership for GLBT equality and justice; Edie Windsor was honored for her brave fight in the US Supreme Court which led to the demise of The Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) and Andy Stern, former LIGALY Board President and COO of NARAL Pro-Choice NY, was lauded for his decades of work fighting for HIV and GLBT equality and justice.
The Network Opens Its Third GLBT Center on the East End

The Network opened its third Center in the summer of 2013: The Hamptons GLBT Center in Sag Harbor, further expanding its reach across Long Island and ensuring that even more people have access to a GLBT Center and the critical services and safe space they provide. Over 350 attended the grand opening in August.
LIGALY’s Safe Schools Initiative Helps to Make Schools Safer

LIGALY’s Safe Schools Initiative delivered 262 workshops to more than 7,672 students in Long Island schools that reduce bullying against GLBT youth and prevent suicide. LIGALY has also expanded efforts to help schools meet the new requirements of the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) that mandates bullying is addressed and reported by providing over 50 trainings for school staff and administrators alone.
The Network Launches 18-month Program to Aide Enrollment in the Health Insurance Marketplace

With an 18-month grant from the New York State Health Foundation, The Network was one of the organizations in New York State selected to educate, screen, and enroll people in the Health Marketplace under the Affordable Care Act. The Network launched Project Helm in the fall and has served more than 350 people in just a few months.

IGNITING ACTIVISM  The annual Long Island GLBT Conference at Stony Brook University brought together more than 400 youth, teachers, counselors, and other community members to gain skills and knowledge about creating change in their own schools and communities so that more people are trained as agents and catalysts of change to create safer spaces for GLBT people.
The Network Attracts Largest Crowd Yet at the Long Island Pride Parade and PrideFest

The Long Island Pride Parade and PrideFest experienced its largest attendance ever with over 15,000 people participating. Long Island native Debbie Gibson returned home to highlight a star-studded lineup at PrideFest and a record 60 groups, including a dozen businesses and corporate groups, marched in the parade. This was The Network’s second year of coordinating the annual event and in just a short amount of time, has nearly tripled attendance and participation.
Over 15,000 community members attended the 2013 Long Island Pride Parade & PrideFest!
BUILDING BUSINESS PARTNERSHIPS

The Network’s Partners in Pride program continues to build relationships and partnerships with a variety of corporations and businesses through its annual Long Island GLBT Business Directory and annual Long Island GLBT Expo. The Network and its organizations – LIGALY, The Center, and SAGE-LI – are now also participants in the Better Business Bureau’s (BBB) Charity Review Program by meeting all of the BBB’s 20 Standards for Charity Accountability. The Network is also an Accredited Charity Seal Holder of the BBB. As a result of these efforts, the GLBT community remains a priority among business leaders and institutions.

EXPANDING IMPACT

LIGALY’s Aleph Project for GLBT Jewish youth has helped start and maintain the first gay-straight alliance (GSA) club in a Long Island Jewish Day School.

UNITING GLBT CULTURE

The Network celebrated the one-year anniversary of its magazine-style newspaper, Living Out, written by and for Long Island’s GLBT community, family, friends, advocates and supporters in order to help build GLBT culture and Long Island life.

ADVOCACY AND OUTREACH

LIGALY’s Long Island Gay Parent Teacher Student Association (LI Gay PTSA) – the first of its kind in the nation continued its efforts to create safe schools for GLBT youth by engaging over 527 parents, teachers, and youth.
FIGHTING HIV LIGALY and The Center continue to significantly expand its HIV Prevention Services each year, and in 2013 conducted more than 400 HIV tests and 627 STD tests so that more gay and bisexual men are aware of their status.

MORE VISIBILITY IN SCHOOLS LIGALY’s annual “National Coming Out Day School Awareness Campaign” was implemented in 67 Long Island schools and religious institutions engaging more than 64,000 students, teachers, parents, and other community members to take a stand against the bullying of GLBT youth.

BUILDING COMMUNITY The Network continues to expand its many programs and services including a huge growth in its support services for transgender and gender non-conforming people of all ages. The Long Island Trans Experience (LITE) program, providing support for transgender people, increased meetings from once a month to once a week.

PROVIDING SUPPORT The Center’s CARE Services (Counseling, Advocacy, Resources, and Education) provided counseling, groups, information, referral, and crisis intervention to more than 200 GLBT people in need – particularly the transgender community and GLBT victims of domestic violence, hate and bias crimes, sexual assault, and other violence.

AGING PROUDLY SAGE-LI continues to serve GLBT older adults with weekly programs and special events that build community, reduce isolation, and help keep active – it is a lifeline of support, particularly for GLBT older adults who have been rejected from their families and live alone.
The Long Island GLBT Network recognizes and thanks its 2013 Corporate Partners.
